Qualified vs. Non-Qualified Dividends

Dividends can be classified either as ordinary or qualified. Whereas ordinary dividends are taxable as ordinary income, qualified dividends that meet certain requirements are taxed at lower capital gain rates.

Qualified Dividends meet the criteria to be taxed at long-term capital gains rates, which are lower than income tax rates for some taxpayers. They must be paid either by a U.S. corporation or by a qualified foreign corporation. An investor must hold the investment for more than 60 days during a 121-day period beginning 60 days before the ex-dividend date.

Non-Qualified Dividends do not meet IRS requirements to qualify for a lower tax rate. These dividends are also known as ordinary dividends because they get taxed as ordinary income by the IRS. The primary drawback of non-qualified dividends is that the IRS taxes them at higher rates than qualified dividends.

The performance data represents past performance, which does not guarantee future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted. To obtain performance data current to the most recent month-end, an investor may call 800-276-1262 or visit integrityvikingfunds.com.

Because the Fund can only distribute what it earns, the Fund's distributions to shareholders could decline when dividend income from stocks in the Fund's portfolio declines. The Fund's emphasis on dividend-paying stocks involves the risk that such stocks may fall out of favor with investors and underperform the market. Also, a company may reduce or eliminate its dividend, which could affect the Fund's ability to generate income. Performance data does not reflect the deduction of sales load. If reflected, the sales load would reduce the performance quoted. The Fund's maximum sales load for Class A shares is 5.00%.

EXPENSE DETAILS: The Fund's investment adviser has contractually agreed to waive fees and reimburse expenses through November 29, 2026 so that Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses After Fee Waivers and Expense Reimbursements (excluding taxes, brokerage fees, commissions, extraordinary and non-recurring expenses, and acquired fund fees and expenses) do not exceed 0.99%, 1.74% and 0.74% of average daily net assets for Class A, Class C and Class I shares, respectively. This expense limitation agreement may only be terminated or modified prior to November 29, 2026 with the approval of the Fund's Board of Trustees.

Preferred stocks are subject to the risks associated with other types of equity securities, such as potential volatility, as well as additional risks, such as risks related to deferral and omission of distributions; credit and subordination risk; interest rate risk; call, reinvestment and income risk; liquidity risk; risks related to limited voting rights; and risks related to special redemption rights.

The Fund may invest in securities of non-U.S. issuers, which have special risks. These risks include international economic and political developments, foreign government actions including restrictions on payments to non-domestic persons such as the Fund, less regulation, less information, currency fluctuations, and interruptions in currency flow. Investments in foreign securities also entail higher costs.

Risks of Non-Diversification: Because a relatively high percentage of the Fund's assets may be invested in the securities of a limited number of issuers, the Fund's portfolio may be more susceptible to any single economic, technological, or regulatory occurrence than the portfolio of a diversified fund.

S&P 500® Index is a widely recognized, unmanaged index of 500 stock prices chosen for market size, liquidity, and industry group representation. It is a market-value weighted index (stock price times number of shares outstanding), with each stock's weight in the index proportionate to its market value.

Beta is a volatility measure of the percentage price change of the Fund given a one percent change in a representative market index. The Beta value is determined by comparing the weekly price movements of the Fund and the S&P 500 Index since inception of the fund.

Distribution Rate is an annualized rate of dividend distributions for shareholders taking dividends in cash based on actual dividend distributions and actual number of days in the distribution period.

Effective Rate is an annualized rate of dividend distributions for shareholders reinvesting dividends based on actual dividend distributions and actual number of days in the distribution period.
