What were the Fund costs for the past year?

(Based on a hypothetical $10,000 investment)

Class Name	Cost of a $10,000 investment	Costs paid as a percentage of a $10,000 investment
Class A	$109	0.95%

How did the Fund perform last year?

- For the 12 month period ended July 31, 2026, the Fund's Class A shares returned 29.99%.
- In comparison, the S&P High Yield Dividend Aristocrats Index (the Benchmark) returned 16.59% for the same period.

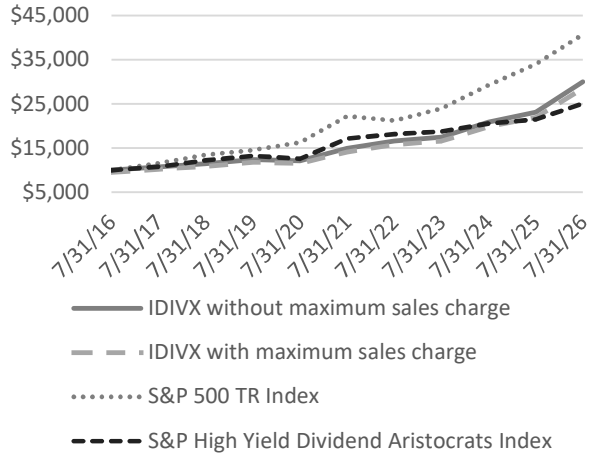

What affected the Fund's performance?

- During the period, the Federal Reserve ("the Fed") reduced rates by 0.25% in September 2025, 0.25% in October 2025, and 0.25% in December 2025, bringing the Federal Funds Rate to 3.50%-3.75%.
- U.S. stocks rose over the period. Performance was supported by continued optimism surrounding artificial intelligence and solid corporate earnings, while the Fed's rate cuts provided additional support. Markets experienced periods of volatility amid concerns over tariffs, inflation, interest rates, and geopolitical tensions.
- Energy and technology were the best performing sectors, while communication services and consumer discretionary performed the worst.
- The Fund outperformed the Benchmark, primarily driven by stock selection in technology, health care, and financials.
- Detracting from relative performance was an underweight allocation to industrials.

Additional Fund Statistics Information

Distribution Rate is an annualized rate of dividend distributions for shareholders taking dividends in cash based on actual dividend distributions and actual number of days in the distribution period.

Beta is a volatility measure of the percentage price change of the Fund given a one percent change in a representative market index. The Beta value is determined by comparing the weekly price movements of the Fund and the S&P 500 Index over the last five years.

SEC yield of a fund is a standardized calculation of the fund's yield. This allows investors to compare funds from different issuers. The SEC yield listed is subsidized, which means it reflects income earned during a 30-day period after the deduction of the fund's net expenses. The yield is net of expense waivers and reimbursements.
