Generate Income in a Low Yield Environment

Interest rates are at or near historical lows. Many investors are faced with inadequate savings to fund their retirement. U.S. Treasury securities, money market funds, and CDs may lack sufficient yield to meet their future needs. For some investors, dividend-paying stocks can serve as a complement to fixed income securities in order to provide a steady source of income in their retirement years. Plus, if you don't need the income stream today, you can reinvest the dividends. This can help you accumulate more shares so you can have that income stream when you need it.

Portfolio Management Team

The Portfolio Management Team is jointly and primarily responsible for the day-to-day management of the Integrity Dividend Harvest Fund. The Portfolio Management Team consists of Shannon Radke, Senior Portfolio Manager; Joshua Larson; Mike Morey; and Trey Welstad, CFA®; whose combined industry experience totals over 40 years. A support staff of research analysts assist the Portfolio Management Team.

Fund Strategy

The Fund's Portfolio Management Team seeks the most promising companies in their class—including those with long records of dividend increases and solid performance. The Team believes that, over time, dividend income can contribute significantly to total return and is a more consistent source of investment return than capital appreciation. Each company's profile is evaluated for:

- Consistent Dividend Increases
- Attractive Dividend Yield
- Strong Balance Sheet
- Earnings Growth
- Attractive Price
- Price Stability

Fund Dividend Growth

Integrity Dividend Harvest Fund has increased its shareholder dividend payout each year since its inception.

Volatility Buffer

Dividend-paying stocks have historically provided some downside protection in volatile market environments, due to the fact that dividend-paying stocks are typically companies that have a historical record of generating strong earnings and cash flows. This gives them the financial strength to pay a dividend.

Favorable Tax Treatment of Dividend Income

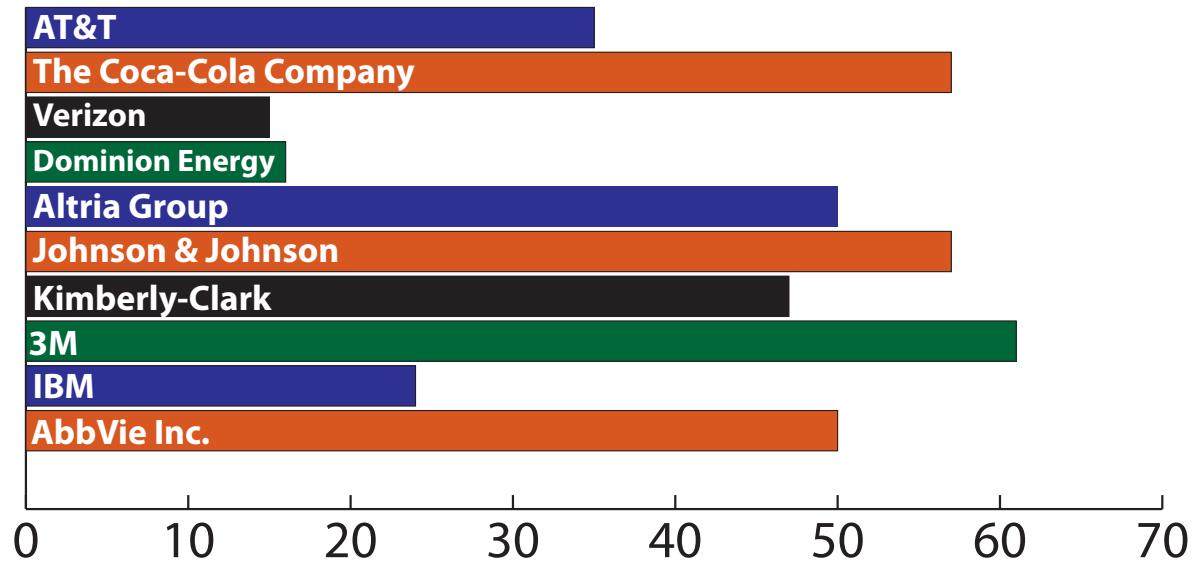

Qualified stock dividends for most individuals are taxed at 15%. However, the maximum rate for higher income investors is 20%* (at 0% for investors in the 10% or 15% tax brackets) making equity dividends more attractive than bond income (which is taxed at an investor's marginal tax rate) for tax purposes.

*Higher income investors are defined as singles with taxable income above $400,000, married joint-filing couples with income above $450,000, heads of households with income above $425,000, and married individuals who file separate returns with income above $225,000. Also, Higher income investors can get taxed with the 3.8% Medicare surtax on investment income, which can result in a maximum 23.8% federal tax rate on dividends. The tax information contained herein is general in nature and not intended to constitute tax advice. Integrity Viking Funds does not provide tax or legal advice. Prospective investors should consult with a tax or legal advisor before making any investment decision.

The performance quoted represents past performance. Past performance does not guarantee future results. The investment return and principal value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's shares, when redeemed, may be worth more or less than their original cost. To obtain performance data current to the most recent month-end, an investor may call toll free 800-276-1262.

The Fund will primarily seek companies, like the top ten holdings, that have had consistent, annual dividend increases over a minimum of 10 years.

NUMBER OF YEARS OF CONSISTENT, ANNUAL DIVIDEND INCREASES

The top ten holdings listed above total 39.72% of the Fund portfolio as of 12/31/19. The portfolio may or may not hold and is not restricted to the companies listed.

Because the Fund can only distribute what it earns, the Fund's distributions to shareholders could decline when dividend income from stocks in the Fund's portfolio declines. The Fund's emphasis on dividend-paying stocks involves the risk that such stocks may fall out of favor with investors and underperform the market. Also, a company may reduce or eliminate its dividend, which could affect the Fund's ability to generate income.

Preferred stocks are subject to the risks associated with other types of equity securities, such as potential volatility, as well as additional risks, such as risks related to deferral and omission of distributions; credit and subordination risk; interest rate risk; call, reinvestment and income risk; liquidity risk; risks related to limited voting rights; and risks related to special redemption rights.

The Fund may invest in securities of non-U.S. issuers, which have special risks. These risks include international economic and political developments, foreign government actions including restrictions on payments to non-domestic persons such as the Fund, less regulation, less information, currency fluctuations, and interruptions in currency flow. Investments in foreign securities also entail higher costs.

Risks of Non-Diversification: Because a relatively high percentage of the Fund's assets may be invested in the securities of a limited number of issuers, the Fund's portfolio may be more susceptible to any single economic, technological, or regulatory occurrence than the portfolio of a diversified fund.
