⁽¹⁾ The Fund's investment adviser, Viking Fund Management, LLC (the "Adviser"), has contractually agreed to waive fees and reimburse expenses through November 29, 2026 so that Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses After Fee Waivers and Expense Reimbursements (excluding taxes, brokerage fees, commissions, extraordinary and non-recurring expenses, and acquired fund fees and expenses) do not exceed 1.24% of average daily net assets for Class A shares, 1.99% of average daily net assets for Class C shares, and 0.99% of Class I shares. This expense limitation agreement may only be terminated or modified prior to November 29, 2026 with the approval of the Fund's Board of Trustees. The terms of the expense limitation agreement provide that the Adviser is entitled to recoup such amounts waived or reimbursed for a period of up to three years from the date on which the Adviser waived fees or reimbursed expenses for the Fund. The Fund will make repayments to the Adviser only if such repayment does not cause the annual Fund operating expenses (after the repayment is taken into account) to exceed both (1) the expense limitation in place when such amounts were waived and (2) the Fund's current expense limitation.

Example—This Example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Fund with the costs of investing in other mutual funds. The Example assumes you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods indicated and then either redeem or do not redeem your shares at those periods. The Example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year, that the Fund's operating expenses remain the same, and that the contractual expense limitation agreement remains in place for the first year. Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be:

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Redemption
Class A	$620	$982	$1,368	$2,448
Class C	$302	$736	$1,297	$2,825
Class I	$101	$430	$ 783	$1,778
No Redemption
Class C	$202	$736	$1,297	$2,825

Portfolio Turnover—The Fund pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or "turns over" its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when Fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in annual fund operating expenses or in the Example, affect the Fund's performance. During the most recent fiscal period, the Fund's portfolio turnover rate was 8.86% of the average value of its portfolio.

Principal Investment Strategies

Under normal market conditions, the Fund is managed using a blended growth and income investment strategy. The Fund seeks to invest primarily in domestic common stocks, balancing its investments between growth and dividend-paying stocks, depending on where value is in the stock market. The Fund may also invest in stocks that are currently not paying dividends, but offer prospects for future income or capital appreciation. While the Fund does not concentrate in any one industry, it may make significant investments in certain sectors, based on economic conditions.

The Adviser makes its investment decisions utilizing a top-down approach which focuses on sector weightings given the Adviser's broader economic and market outlook. Individual companies are then selected by considering a number of factors that may include, but are not limited to, revenue growth, earnings growth rate, dividend yield, price-to-earnings (P/E) multiples, strength of balance sheet, and price momentum. Although the Fund may invest in companies of any size, the Adviser prefers large cap companies for the Fund. Subject to its attention to responsible investment criteria described below, the Fund is not constrained by investments in any particular segment of the stock market.

The Adviser seeks to emphasize companies that it believes both offer attractive investment opportunities and demonstrate a positive awareness of their impact on the society in which they operate. Factors considered may include:

- fairness of employment policies and labor relations;
- involvement in the community;
- efforts and strategies to minimize the negative impact of business activities and products on the environment and to embrace alternatives to reduce polluting and unnecessary animal suffering; and
- management and board governance.

In addition, the Adviser does not intend to invest in companies that it believes derive material revenue from gambling, firearms, pornography, the production of alcohol or tobacco, or non-humanitarian business operations in countries considered State Sponsors of Terrorism by the U.S. Secretary of State.

The Fund's portfolio management team may consider selling a security if, among other considerations, its business fundamentals have deteriorated.

Principal Risks

As with all mutual funds, there is the risk that you could lose money through your investment in the Fund. Many factors affect the Fund's net asset value and performance. An investment in the Fund is not a deposit of a bank and is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency.

Market and Economic Risk: Market risk is the risk that one or more markets in which the Fund invests will go down in value, including the possibility that the markets will go down sharply and unpredictably. Securities may decline in value due to factors affecting the securities markets generally, such as real or perceived adverse economic conditions, changes in the general outlook for revenues or corporate earnings, changes in interest or currency rates or adverse investor sentiment generally. The value of a security may also change in value due to factors that affect an individual issuer or a particular sector or industry. During a general downturn in the securities markets, multiple asset classes may decline in value simultaneously. When markets perform well, there can be no assurance that securities held by the Fund will participate in or otherwise benefit from the advance.

Style Risk: The Fund is managed according to an investment strategy that at times reflects either growth or value style investing, and therefore is subject to the risks associated with these styles. One risk is that a growth investing style may fall out of favor with investors for a period of time during which the Fund may underperform other funds that employ a different style. In addition, growth stocks typically are more volatile than value stocks due to their relatively high valuations and sensitivity to investor perceptions of the issuer's growth potential. As a result, the price of a growth stock may experience a larger decline on a forecast of lower earnings or other negative development, than would a value stock. Furthermore, because the value of growth companies is a function of their expected earnings growth, there is a risk that such earnings growth may not occur or cannot be sustained. Value stocks may continue to be undervalued by the market for extended periods, including the entire period during which the stock is held by the Fund. Additionally, the events that the Adviser believed would cause the stock price to increase may not occur as anticipated or at all. Moreover, a stock judged to be undervalued actually may be appropriately priced at a low level.

Responsible Investing Risk: The Fund's responsible investment criteria could cause it to underperform similar funds that do not have such criteria. Among the reasons for this are: ethically aware companies could fall out of favor with investors or fail to perform as well as companies that do not fit the Fund's responsible investment criteria; stocks that do not meet the responsible investment criteria could outperform those that do; and the responsible investment criteria could cause the Fund to sell or avoid stocks that subsequently perform well.

Liquidity Risk: Certain securities in which the Fund invests may be less readily marketable and may be subject to greater fluctuation in price than other securities. These features may make it more difficult to sell or buy a security at a favorable price or time.

Market Valuation Risk: Some companies that are growing very fast have unreasonable valuations by traditional valuation techniques. Since these companies' stock prices do not reflect the usual relationships between price and corporate earnings or income, their stocks tend to be extraordinarily volatile and speculative.

Dividend-Paying Stock Risk: Because the Fund can only distribute what it earns, the Fund's distributions to shareholders could decline when dividend income from the dividend-paying stocks in the Fund's portfolio declines. Investments in dividend-paying stocks involve the risk that such stocks may fall out of favor with investors and underperform the market. Also, a company may reduce or eliminate its dividend, which could affect the Fund's ability to generate income. Key factors that might cause a company to reduce or eliminate its dividend include deteriorating fundamentals or changes in priority of the uses of capital, among other factors.

Risks of Investments in Smaller Companies: The securities of mid-capitalization and small-capitalization companies involve greater risks than those associated with larger, more established companies and may be subject to more abrupt or erratic price movements. Securities of such issuers may lack sufficient market liquidity to enable the Fund to effect sales at an advantageous time or without a substantial drop in price. Both mid-capitalization and small-capitalization companies often have narrower markets and more limited managerial and financial resources than larger, more established companies. As a result, their performance can be more volatile and they face greater risk of business failure, which could increase the volatility of the Fund's portfolio. Generally, the smaller the company size, the greater these risks become.

Valuation Risk: The sales price the Fund could receive for any particular portfolio investment may differ from the Fund's valuation of the investment, particularly for securities that trade in thin or volatile markets or that are valued using a fair value methodology.

Cybersecurity Risk: Cybersecurity breaches may allow an unauthorized party to gain access to Fund assets, customer data, or proprietary information, or cause the Fund and/or its service providers to suffer data corruption or lose operational functionality. The Fund's share price may decline as a result of unauthorized actions taken during a security breach or subsequent market activity in response to the security breach.

Sector Risk: To the extent that the Fund focuses on particular sectors from time to time, the Fund may be subject to greater risk of the adverse developments in such areas of focus than a fund that invests in a wider variety of sectors.

Risks of the Information Technology Sector: The Fund may be sensitive to changes in, and its performance may depend to a greater extent on, the overall condition of the information technology sector. Information technology companies face intense competition, both domestically and internationally, which may have an adverse effect on profit margins. Information technology companies may have limited product lines, markets, financial resources or personnel. The products of information technology companies may face product obsolescence due to rapid technological developments and frequent new product introduction, unpredictable changes in growth rates and competition for the services of qualified personnel. Companies in the information technology sector are heavily dependent on patent protection and the expiration of patents may adversely affect the profitability of these companies.
