Thomas Hauser, CFA, Managing Director, is the co-lead portfolio manager within the High Yield Fixed Income Team. He is a CFA charterholder and a member of the Indianapolis Society of Financial Analysts.

HIGH YIELD STRATEGY

J.P.Morgan Asset Management's High Yield strategy utilizes fundamental, bottom-up research with a disciplined security selection process which seeks to consistently generate superior risk-adjusted returns. Proprietary fundamental research, a disciplined approach to relative value, and risk management drive the investment process which results in a well-diversified, optimally constructed portfolio.

INVESTMENT PROCESS

Fundamental Analysis

The fundamental research process combines the expertise of High Yield Credit Analysts with the strength of the broader J.P.Morgan fixed income team. Industry specialists develop in-depth knowledge of the companies in their focus area through qualitative research, and combine analysis of historical financial performance with the current market environment to prepare financial projections.

We believe capitalizing on changing fundamentals before the broader marketplace results in superior risk-adjusted returns over time.

Security Valuation

The disciplined security selection process seeks to find the most attractive investments within each market sector. Dedicated High Yield Analysts evaluate and compare individual securities within a sector and within a company's capital structure to find the most attractive opportunities.

RISK MANAGEMENT

Risk management is a core component of the High Yield fixed income investment process. Unlike many other High Yield Corporate Bond Funds, Integrity High Income Fund is broadly diversified. With over 600* positions and in conjunction with JPMorgan research resources, the Fund allows for diversification between many different securities and also allows for diversification between various sectors. This provides the investor with an instant degree of diversification upon purchase of the Fund. Diversification allows investors to reduce the risk of one particular security or sector, and also allows for a broader exposure to various securities and sectors.

AN EXPERIENCED TEAM

There are currently fourteen Research Analysts dedicated to supporting the Portfolio Managers in the management of Integrity High Income Fund.

Mr. Cook and Mr. Hauser are part of a broader JPMorgan fixed income platform that consists of over 300 Investment Professionals responsible for $700 billion in assets under management.

Ongoing review and debate provides a daily forum for assessing market technicals and security buy and sell decisions. The ability to leverage economic insight into sector selection decisions is a differentiating point for JPMorgan. Portfolio attributes such as yield, quality, duration, and sector allocation are monitored to achieve investment objectives and control risk.

For JPMorgan Asset Management, the buy and sell discipline is a constant, ongoing process. We continually invest significant resources in our proprietary technology that focuses on overall portfolio risk, security valuation, credit risk management, portfolio construction, performance attribution, portfolio accounting and reporting.

INTENSIVE CREDIT RESEARCH

JPMorgan Asset Management takes an intensive approach to credit analysis. An in-depth understanding of industry and company fundamentals differentiates us from our competitors. We strive to identify undervalued securities in the marketplace through our bottom-up research process. Often this is discovered through our dialogues with management teams, but also through our contacts with customers, suppliers and other third party field checks.

We believe capitalizing on changing fundamentals before the broader marketplace results in superior risk-adjusted returns over time.

Portfolio Managers are also trained in credit analysis and utilize their experience to ensure the credits are scrutinized from all angles and that the right questions are asked. This intensive approach to the credit market drives superior security selection and helps us to maintain the appropriate vigilance in the ongoing monitoring of credit risk within the portfolio.

High yield securities are lower-quality debt securities and are subject to greater risk of default or price changes due to changes in the credit quality of the issuer. Bond funds generally decline in value as interest rates rise. Diversification does not assure a profit or protect against loss in a declining market.

SMH Capital Advisors, Inc. served as investment adviser to the Fund from April 30, 2004 through May 4, 2008. Effective September 10, 2008, JPMorgan was approved as sub-advisor to Integrity High Income Fund.
